Contact persons

Various people at both the home and host university are involved in an exchange. There are often contact persons for course-related matters (at Paderborn University, the programme co-ordinators) and contact persons for administrative or contractual matters (at Paderborn University, staff in the International Office).

At Paderborn University, the programme co-ordinators are responsible for academic support and supervision for both the co-operation and incoming and outgoing students. They are also responsible for the selection process for students applying for an exchange place at the partner university.

Course and field of study

The course designates the specific subject area in which the exchange is to take place, e.g. “International Business Studies”. An ISCED code will be assigned to the course for the conclusion of the agreement. The field of study designates the category under which the exchange will be advertised for Paderborn University students, e.g. “Business Administration and Economics”. Often, the course and field of study are the same. If the course is a dual degree programme, you must specify which field of study the exchange is to be advertised under.

Type and direction of exchange

Student exchange

For a student exchange, you will need to specify how many students may participate in the exchange per academic year. This figure will be based on the number of exchange places per year, whereby each exchange place can be allocated to one person only. You will also need to specify whether the exchange places are to be allocated for a semester or for an academic year. In addition, you will need to specify whether incoming and outgoing students will be able to opt for blended mobility (shorter term physical mobility combined with virtual participation in the exchange programme).

You can stipulate a total number of exchange places per academic year – irrespective of academic level – and specify which study cycles may participate in the exchange (Option A). Please indicate your preference here.

You may stipulate different numbers of places for Bachelor and Master degrees only in absolutely exceptional cases. As this is no longer provided for in Erasmus+, separate agreements would in this case need to be concluded for Bachelor and Master degrees (Option B).

Option A:

Study cycle	Total exchange places per academic year	Duration of exchange per place	Blended mobility possible?
<input type="checkbox"/> Bachelor <input type="checkbox"/> Master <input type="checkbox"/> PhD

Option B: Fill in only if the exchange cannot be listed under Option A

Study cycle	Exchange places per study cycle per academic year	Duration of exchange per place	Blended mobility possible?
Bachelor
Master
PhD

If you want the student exchange to take place in only the summer or winter semester (incoming and/or outgoing students), please indicate this here:

Incoming	Winter semester only	Summer semester only
Outgoing	Winter semester only	Summer semester only

Teaching staff exchange

For a teaching staff exchange, the agreement will stipulate how many people may participate in the programme for how many days per academic year. Exchange places are generally allocated to one or two people, with participants usually spending one week at the partner university.
